DAY 2
Tuesday
9/16/25

Arusha

What was once a sleepy outpost town has turned into a small thriving city. At some 4,500 feet above sea level, Arusha is set beside the southern slopes of Mount Meru (14,980 feet) and surrounded by coffee farms, fields of bananas, and small rural communities. With its scenic backdrop, friendly people and ever-improving infrastructure, Arusha makes for the perfect base from which to start or end your adventure.

Trek Briefing

Have a trek briefing this morning, during which you will receive your rental gear (if applicable). Please try on and inspect each item to make sure that it's comfortable and that you understand all the features. This will be your last chance before the trek to modify, exchange or add gear.

Weigh Your Duffle - 33 Pound Limit

Today you will weigh your duffle bag to ensure that it does not exceed 33lbs, as it will be carried throughout the trek by a member of your porter team. If your duffle weighs more than 33lbs, or if you would like someone to carry your daypack, a personal porter may be hired for an additional fee.

Arusha National Park

Arusha National Park's diverse landscapes and abundant wildlife often draw comparison to its larger counterparts in northern Tanzania. In the park stands Tanzania's second tallest mountain, Mount Meru (14,980 feet), an ancient extinct volcano that is sometimes referred to as Mount Kilimanjaro's "little cousin." You can also explore Ngurdoto Crater, nicknamed "Little Ngorongoro," which is home to wildlife including buffalo, elephant, giraffe, and bushbuck.

Head into the foothills of Mount Meru with a park ranger and your guide, and follow a gentle uphill trail to the Tolutulusia Waterfall. From this vantage point, you have beautiful views of the park's diverse landscapes. Enjoy a boxed lunch along the way.

DAY 3
Wednesday
9/17/25

Arusha to Forest Ridge

At 19,341 feet in elevation, flat-topped Uhuru Peak is truly the “Roof of Africa” so AdventureWomen has chosen the Lemosho Route which allows gradual acclimatization and a 98% summit success rate. The trek is challenging but you’re hiking with women who share your grit and drive, lifting each other up to ensure everyone reaches the top as one. Plus, a team of experienced and friendly porters and Wilderness First Responder African guides, following rigorous safety protocols, takes care of every detail including setting up each camp with comfortable tents and preparing delicious and nutritious meals, each one better than the last!

Briefing and Gear Check

Wake up to a chorus of birds this morning. After a thorough briefing and gear check, it’s off to the wide-open plains that lead to Kilimanjaro. Passing coffee farms and mountainside villages, you will drive to the dense rainforest where your trek begins.

Start Your Trek

After registering at the Kilimanjaro National Park gate, make a long climb from the base camp through the dense rainforest of rubber trees and giant fig trees, scrambling up steep sections of roots and rock until you arrive at a forested campsite near a series of caves. A hot dinner awaits in your mess tent.

DAY 4
Thursday
9/18/25

Forest Ridge to Heath

“Pole, pole” means “slowly, slowly” in Swahili, and you need to trek slowly to acclimatize to the altitude. The mantra for this trip is to hike high and sleep low, allowing your body to get used to the higher elevations.

Trek into the Heath

After a nutritious breakfast at camp, lace up your boots, put on your gaiters, and make your way out of the forest this morning. The high trees will give way to scrubland thick with heather that is draped in bearded lichen. Climbing rolling hills, you will enjoy spectacular views of the forest canopy and plains below. As the air thins and the clouds part, you might just have a stunning view of the snow-streaked Uhuru Peak above. Arrive at your camp in the heath zone this afternoon.

DAY 5

Heath to Moorland

As the sun's rays stretch over the mountain face this morning, you will resume your trek from the savannah of heather and grasses into the moorlands. Pass bizarre flora, such as giant groundsels, and a misty, cloud-covered terrain of volcanic rock.

Trek from Heath to Moorland

Move up the mountain steadily and gradually, heeding your guides' advice to go "pole, pole," or slowly, slowly, and eventually arrive at your camp in the moorlands.

Laugh along the trail with your fellow trekkers - even things like bathroom stops along the way will become funny!

DAY 6
Saturday
9/20/25

Moorland

Located a little over 15,000' up the mountain along the Lemosho and Machame routes, Lava Tower is a large rock formation that (you guessed it) was formed from lava, back in the days when Kilimanjaro was still an active volcano. Lava Tower is what's known as a volcanic plug; at some point in the distant past, lava shot out a vent at the base of where Lava Tower now stands, cooled, and hardened, thus stopping up the vent beneath.

Hike in the Barranco Valley

Proceed steadily upward over expansive ridgelines of high desert to Lava Tower, for lunch. In the afternoon, descend the steep track into the Great Barranco Valley. Barranco Camp is set in a valley enclosed on three sides with the massive valley walls and the Kibo massif itself. Hanging glaciers glint in the sunshine above, amidst the eerie landscape of plants such as the giant groundsels (Senecio Kilimanjari), and the uniquely endemic Giant Lobelia.

DAY 7
Sunday
9/21/25

Moorland

The rocky slopes of the Barranco Wall are the result of Kilimanjaro's turbulent volcanic past. Before Kilimanjaro went dormant, the pressure of the lava beneath the summit held the area up, but without it, the mountaintop collapsed inward, forming the caldera. Over the subsequent years, less-dramatic collapses occurred as the mountain settled into what it is today. Around 100,000 years ago, one of these collapses resulted in a massive landslide down the southern face shearing away what was presumably more forgiving terrain. The dramatic Barranco Wall, sharply contrasting from the rest of Kilimanjaro's mostly gentle slopes, was left in the wake of this violent event.

Today's Trek

This short trekking day is taken to reach Karanga Valley Camp, between Barranco and Barafu Camps. Today is important for acclimatization. The day begins with a scramble up the steep Barranco Wall, then traversing up and down the slopes of valleys which have carved their way into the mountain's southern face. Kibo's glaciers loom above to your left and the jagged peaks of Mawenzi jut into the African sky at just under 17,000 feet straight ahead. Reach the Karanga Valley for a hot lunch served at camp. The afternoon can be taken to relax with your new friends or take excursions from camp.

Monday
9/22/25

Moorland to Alpine Desert

Only white-necked ravens and a handful of other birds venture this high, where vegetation is scarce. Camp in this lunar landscape where you may see the hanging glaciers that drape Kilimanjaro's summit cone.

Trek in the Alpine Desert Proceed steadily upward over expansive ridgelines in the high alpine desert where the air thins and cools. Enjoy the extraordinary views as you pass massive volcanic formations scattered throughout the fields of scree. Barafu Camp is set on a small, exposed flat area on a ridge, acting as base camp from which you will make your summit attempt at midnight tonight. Eat and drink as much as possible before retiring early to your tent for rest and sleep.

DAY 9
Tuesday
9/23/25

Alpine Desert to Heath

On your way to Uhuru Peak, you'll see Mawenzi, a nearby peak. Legend has it that Kibo (the top of Kilimanjaro) and Mawenzi were good neighbors until Mawenzi played a prank on Kibo; Mawenzi threw away embers he had received from Kibo and claimed that they had burned out. Kibo eventually got angry and beat Mawenzi badly, explaining why the mountain is so badly degraded.

Trek to Uhuru Peak

A steaming hot drink will arrive very early on this momentous day - your summit day! After a midnight wakeup call, begin trekking with your headlamp at 1:00am. The temperatures range from just below freezing at midnight, to between -10 degrees and 10 degrees just before dawn at the summit. The winding path of endless switchbacks will take form and shape in the shadows of the Ratzel and Rebman glaciers at early dawn, and behind you the spires of Mawenzi will be silhouetted against the red glow of the sun from beneath the clouds.

After about six hours of walking, you will come to the edge of the crater; Stella Point, at 19,000 feet on the crater rim is the end of the steep climb. From here, there is a gentle slope to Uhuru Peak, which takes about an hour. The strength it takes to ascend this final 340 feet is for many monumental. You will all encourage each other to take those final few steps to reach your goal - the Roof of Africa at 19,341 feet!

(Total trekking time to the summit is 6-8 hours)

Descend from the Summit

After taking photos at the summit, descend the steep scree trail back to Barafu Camp for some rest, then summon your strength again for a further descent to Mweka Camp for the night.

(Total trekking time to Mweka Millennium Camp is 4-7 hours)

Adventure Travel Today

We define "adventure travel" as travel in which one actively participates, as opposed to a "tour," in which one is more or less a passive observer. AdventureWomen designs and organizes trips all over the world for women who want an active, out of the ordinary experience, and meet new friends. Most of all, we want our trips to be fun! In this spirit, the successful adventure traveler should be a good-natured realist and have a sense of humor! Adventure trips, by nature, require that participants be self-sufficient, flexible, and able to accept situations as they exist, and not just as they would have preferred or expected them to exist. The constraints of scheduled group traveling also necessitate that each of us be understanding of and sensitive to others. Being on time is important, and contributes to the congeniality, success and well-being of both individuals and the group!
