Peru: Discover Machu Picchu and the Amazon

Lima to Urubamba

Once the heart of the Inca Empire, the Sacred Valley is a feast of impressive ruins, gentle mountain slopes, rushing rivers, grazing llamas and alpaca, and enchanting farm towns. In short, it's the perfect introduction to the mysterious world of the Inca, whose stunning civilization thrived until the 16th century.

Flight to Cusco Enjoy magnificent views of the rugged Andes Mountains during your one-hour flight.

Picnic Lunch Have a special gourmet picnic lunch in front of the beautiful Huaypo Lagoon.

Center for Traditional Textiles Take a hands-on weaving class with a master weaver. Textile production has profound historic and cultural significance in the Andes, and this project is part of a highly successful National Geographic Society-supported initiative to rescue and revive this way of life. Women are the owners and drivers of this activity, and you will see how their gregarious processes of spinning, gathering and use of natural dyes, setting up of looms, and the creation of designs, are fundamental to the family and social bonds of these highland communities.

Tribute to Mother Earth Ceremony A Pacco (Andean priest), the link between the spiritual and earthly words will conduct the Tribute to the Mother Earth ceremony. This is an act of reciprocity towards Pachamama (Mother Earth), a deity associated with fertility.

PERU

Peru: Discover Machu Picchu and the Amazon

Urubamba

Five hundred years ago, Peru lay at the heart of a vast Incan empire that stretched across 400,000 square miles from northwest Argentina to southern Columbia, and from the Andean highlands to the Amazon jungle. A legendary kingdom, this brilliantly flourishing Land of the Inca came to an end when Pizarro and his conquering Spaniards swept across South America. Today, Peruvians proudly preserve their rich and diverse cultures and traditions.

Visit the Native Community of Cuyuni

To visit the native community of Cuyuni is to literally travel back in time. Here, natives are, in many ways, still living as they've been for centuries. The proud villagers will show you how they have managed to survive in such extremely adverse conditions: over 13,000 feet above sea level, where only wild grass grows naturally. Spend some time harvesting potatoes with the locals, surrounded by Guinea pigs and llamas.

On this very special day, the community leaders will accompany the group as you learn not only about their daily lives and activities, but also about their ancestral traditions that date to pre-Inca times.

Lunch

Enjoy lunch in the community.

Dinner

Have dinner on your own and relax at your hotel this evening.

Peru: Discover Machu Picchu and the Amazon

Urubamba to Machu Picchu

Arriving at Machu Picchu, “Lost City of the Incas” is like stepping into a postcard! The intact maze of empty plazas, chambers and palaces connected by stairways carved out of solid stone helps you understand why it is considered among the Wonders of the World. Built precipitously high, it is surrounded by mountains covered in lush tropical vegetation. Terraced to the edge to provide for Inca domiciles, it stands today as a tribute to Incan ingenuity.

Train to Machu Picchu

This morning is the beginning of a fantastic journey by train to Machu Picchu, “Lost City of the Incas.” Travel by on the narrow-gauge switchback train through the fertile valleys of the Andes and along the sacred Urubamba River.

Luggage Note for the Train

There are no large suitcases allowed on the train, so you will have to take your small, collapsible overnight bag or your daypack with you on the train for the overnight at Machu Picchu. You can leave your large suitcase at the hotel, and all suitcases will be transported to your hotel in Cusco for when you return from Machu Picchu.

Explore Machu Picchu

Enjoy a guided tour of the famous ruins. Machu Picchu is one of the most beautiful and enigmatic ancient sites in the world. While the Inca people certainly used the Andean mountaintop, erecting many stone structures from the early 1400s, legends and myths indicate that Machu Picchu was revered as a sacred place far earlier than the Inca times.

Lunch

Enjoy lunch at a delicious restaurant in town.

Afternoon Activities

Your hotel has many optional activities, including walking tours, bird watching, and a spa, as well as lovely places to relax this afternoon.

DAY 6
Monday
10/16/23

Machu Picchu to Cusco

Founded in the 11th century and capital of the Inca Empire from the 13th century through the arrival of the Spanish in the mid-16th century, today's Cuzco is a delightful mix of Inca and Spanish architecture. Winding streets, red clay rooftops, tiny peaceful plazas and colorful shops invite exploration. Around the mostly whitewashed city you can still see the remains of Inca buildings and their foundations—many of which have proven to be stronger than buildings constructed in the present day. The stones in the old walls that line the winding alleyways are so closely fitted together, you couldn't even fit a sheet of paper between them!

Optional Hike of Huayna Picchu You have the option to hike Huayna Picchu, the iconic towering mountain often seen in photographs, for dramatic views. (Hiking time 4 hours)

Huayna Picchu permits are extremely limited. If you register too close to departure, we are not able to guarantee that you will be able to hike Huayna Picchu.

Morning in the Citadel For those who choose not to hike Huayna Picchu, wander around the citadel of Machu Picchu, exploring and admiring every corner of this incredible site.

Lunch Have lunch in Aguas Calientes on your own.

Return to Cusco Meet back at the Pueblo Hotel this afternoon before boarding the train to Ollantaytambo and then returning to Cusco.

Dinner Head out to one of Cusco's excellent restaurants for dinner on your own this evening.

Cusco

Cusco is acknowledged as the archeological capital of the new world. It is made up of an endless series of surprises spreading out to the horizon. It is the oldest continually inhabited city in the western hemisphere and was the ancient capital of the Inca Empire.

Explore Cusco

Head out for a tour of Cusco today. Start with the best view of the city from atop Cerro Pukamayo, a natural scenic overlook from which the outstretched arms of Cristo Blanco, a massive white statue of Christ, embrace the city. Stop at the Fortress of Sacsayhuamán, a structure of enormous stones, which are carved and fit together with incredible precision. Return to the lower part of the city, stopping at the Mercado de San Pedro. As the main street market, this will give you an opportunity to get to know the products of Cusco. Wander through and admire the sights, aromas, tastes, and colors of the region – try a juice made from local fruit, the typical local bread, Andean cheese, and the best Peruvian chocolate.

Just a few blocks away, discover the Korikancha, or the Golden Temple, dedicated to the worship of the Sun God. Finish your exploration with a stroll through the Plaza de Armas, the main square, where you will visit the Cathedral, famous for its exquisite vestibules and priceless paintings from the 17th and 18th centuries.

The Peruvian Amazon is one of the most biologically diverse places on earth. It covers 60% of the country, stretching from east of the Andes to the borders of Ecuador, Colombia, Bolivia, and Brazil. Receiving 103 inches of rain every year, you always need to be prepared for a cloudburst!

Lake Sandoval Excursion

Visit the Lake Sandoval excursion into the Tambopata National Reserve. Glide in a wooden canoe, across a beautiful, mirror-like oxbow lake that is home to the endangered giant river otter, as well as red howler monkeys, red-bellied macaws, anacondas, side-neck turtles and black caimans.

Canopy Walkway

Walk along the Canopy Walkway. Ascending the first tower, 29 meters above the forest ground, you begin your encounter with the treetop realm. For more than a quarter of a mile, you will literally walk through the rainforest canopy on a suspension bridge network linking eight observation platforms. During this hour-and-a-half expedition, be on the lookout for colorful toucans, woodpeckers, trogons, monkeys, and sloths. Adventure Travel Today

At AdventureWomen, we want everyone to understand that our excursions are adventure travel vacations and not "tours." We define "adventure travel" as travel in which one actively participates, as opposed to a "tour," in which one is more or less a passive observer. AdventureWomen designs and organizes vacations all over the world for women who want to experience an active, out of the ordinary vacation, and meet new friends. Most of all, we want our trips to be fun!

good-natured realist and have a sense of humor! Adventure vacations, by nature, require that participants be self-sufficient, flexible, and able to accept situations as they exist, and not just as they would have preferred or expected them to exist. The constraints of scheduled group traveling also necessitate that each of us be understanding of and sensitive to others. Being on time is important, and contributes to the congeniality, success and well-being of both individuals and the group!

In this spirit, the successful adventure traveler should be a
